SILVER SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK
NEW YORK UNIVERSITY
CLINICAL FACULTY POSITION
(NON-TENURE TRACK)

The Silver School of Social Work at New York University invites applications for a full-time clinical faculty position, with the position beginning September 2018.

This is a renewable 9-month non-tenure eligible position. The primary roles for this position are teaching, advising and curriculum development. Candidates for this position will be expected to teach and take leadership in the practice curriculum area. Clinical Faculty are an integral part of the Silver School and contribute to our mission through service to the School, community engagement, scholarly presentations, teaching innovations, publications, research, grant development as well as other forms of applied scholarship.

An MSW degree, PhD/DSW and at least five years post-master's agency-based clinical practice experience is required for the position. Candidates are expected to have teaching experience at the MSW-level; field instruction/advising preferred. Candidates must demonstrate evidence of ability to provide leadership in curriculum and course development; collaborate with faculty within and across curriculum areas; advance teaching pedagogy and have a strong commitment to social justice. Candidates from underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

New York University's Silver School of Social Work is an international leader in social work research and education. Located in Greenwich Village in New York City and in one of the world's great urban research universities, the Silver School offers outstanding support for scholarship, teaching and service. Located on Washington Square Park, the Silver School is one of the 14 schools and colleges of New York University, the largest private university in the U.S.A., with students from all 50 states and more than 100 nations. The diversity of the academic community and the incomparable resources of New York City enrich the academic programs and campus life of the University and the Silver School.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should send a letter of application and curriculum vitae in electronic form to Dr. Victoria Stanhope, Chair, Faculty Search and New Appointments Committee via Interfolio: Apply here.
