Become a Member Today!

NANAS has taken the long-awaited step of collecting membership fees so that we can build a stronger organization! You can be among the first to help move NANAS to the next level by paying the very affordable 2018 dues. Also, we encourage faculty members to cover their graduate students' dues — present each of them with a complimentary NANAS Membership!

Membership Benefits

*Discounted fees for NANAS-sponsored meetings/conferences

*Opportunities to be active in the organization, such as

Voting in NANAS elections (each autumn)
Serving on committees
Running for NANAS office

*Eligibility for NANAS awards

*Continued membership in the NANAS online community and timely access to all NANAS communications, including the monthly newsletter listing CFPs, publications, etc. Early in 2018, we are transitioning to a new listserv, with digest and archive functions, reserved for members. This new listserv will facilitate easy, informal connection with other NANAS age-studies scholars.

*The satisfaction of knowing that you are contributing to the growth of an important field. Membership dues are essential for ensuring the viability of future conferences. We're planning for the May 2019 conference at Trent University in Peterborough, Ontario, to be jointly sponsored with the European Network in Aging Studies (ENAS).

Membership Dues

We know that our members are also active in other professional organizations, so we are keeping dues very affordable for individuals as well as institutions:

Student membership $20

Other individual $40

Institutional (includes 1 individual) $100

Institutional sponsor (includes 2 individuals) $200

Membership will be for each calendar year regardless of when dues are paid. Pay now to benefit from 2018 membership.

Complete Your Registration

We've made it easy to become a NANAS Member. To pay with a credit card, just go to the NANAS site (agingstudies.org) and click on the membership page, where you will find this
